

APPLICATION OF MATH IN REAL LIFE LECTURES

FEATURING TALKS ON

The Geometry of Machine Learning
Biostatistics and Oncology Research
Empirical Analysis in Neuroscience

TUESDAY, APR 17, 2018

610 Commonwealth Avenue, Boston, MA 02215

To register type in the following short url OR scan the QR code to register to attend HERE: goo.gl/RYsPBX

All undergrads with an interest in math or stats welcome, of all genders and all institutions!

Organized by BU Math IRL (Math In Real Life), a Boston University student group!

Partially funded by your undergraduate student fee.

The Math IRL seminar is aimed at presenting how math can be seen in real life and have applications in various fields of math, economics, physics, and music. There will be speakers and student presenters. This will be seminar event held on Tuesday, April 17th at the Boston University Rajen Kilachand Center for Integrated Life Sciences & Engineering. The "Math IRL Presents" event will be held from 6:30pm to 8:00pm.

www.mathirlmagazine.com

